B. Reading Comprehension (16 marks)

Read the following passage then answer the questions below:

Banks are places where people can keep their money. Most people use banks to save money in their savings accounts, and to pay money from their checking accounts. In the past, people used to receive their salaries by hand. They also used to save their extra money at their homes. This was not safe, and people couldn't make use of their savings. Yet, things have changed greatly nowadays. Today, when a person earns money from their job, his salary is often electronically deposited into his saving accounts.

People nowadays can pay their bills by writing cheques from their checking accounts or pay online where their bills are electronically connected to their bank accounts. Banks also give loans to people. They lend people to buy new houses, cars, or to start businesses.

The bank makes money from lending their customers by charging interest. In other words, people have to pay back more than they borrowed. This amount depends on how risky the bank thinks the borrower is and how fast the loan is paid back. The riskier the borrower is, the more charging interest he or she would pay the bank.
