Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions that follow:

'Stress' means pressure, tension or feeling bad. It is one of the most common causes of health problems in modern life. Too much stress results in physical, emotional, and mental health problems.

There are many physical effects of stress. Stress can affect the heart. It can cause high blood pressure. Stress can affect the respiratory system. It can cause a person to breathe too fast, resulting in a loss of important carbon dioxide. Stress can affect the stomach. It can cause stomach aches and digestive problems.

Emotions are also easily affected by stress. People suffering from stress often feel nervous. They may feel tired all the time. When people are under stress, they often react terribly to little problems. Stress can change people's attitudes and make them angry or nervous.

Long-term stress can lead to a variety of serious mental illnesses. Depression, an extreme feeling of sadness, can be the result of continued and increasing stress. Eating illnesses are sometimes caused by stress and are often made worse by stress. If stress is allowed to continue, then one's mental health is put at risk.

It is obvious that stress is a serious problem. It attacks the body. It affects the emotions. If it is not treated, it may finally result in mental illness. Stress has a great influence on the health and well-being of our bodies, our feelings, and our minds. So, reduce stress, stop the world and rest for a while.
