III-Reading Comprehension

* Read the following passage and answer the following questions:-

Food is very important for living beings because it gives them the energy they need for work and to live. We get food from different sources like plants, fish and animals. The population is increasing quickly, so food will not be enough for them in the future. Some scientists do their best to find food for everyone. We must reclaim the desert land to enrich and cultivate it.

We must make more fish farms to get the fish needed for people. A lot of governments are interested in making more animal farms to get enough food for all people. If we do so, everyone will find more food for all his family. If a country has food for all people, they will be free and strong, then they can decide what they want. A rich and advanced country is measured by learning, education and the high living level, which depends on enough food.

III-Reading Comprehension

 Read the following passage and answer the following questions:-

From far out in space, Earth looks like a blue ball. Since water covers three-fourths of the Earth's surface, blue is the colour we see most. The continents look brown, like small islands floating in the huge, blue sea. White clouds wrap around the Earth like a light blanket. The Earth is shaped like a sphere, or a ball. It would take years to walk around the whole planet.

A spaceship can fly around the sphere in only 90 minutes. Even though spaceships have travelled to the Moon, people cannot visit the Moon without special suits. The Moon has no air or water. Plants and animals can't live there either. Astronauts first landed on the Moon in 1969. The Sun is the closest star to Earth. It looks very big. Each day we learn more about the Earth, the Moon, and the Sun.

III-Reading Comprehension

Read the following passage carefully then answer the questions below:

Imagine this. You step up to the sink, wet your toothbrush, and begin cleaning your pearly whites. Out of the corner of your eye, you see something moving on the wall. Suddenly, you realize you're not alone in the bathroom. Your heart pounding, you turn toward the tiny intruder to get a better look.

You're horrified to see that it has eight legs, and a pair of oversized pincers on its front end. Is it going to sting you?

Actually, it's a bug, and it's no more harmful to you than a housefly. This tiny bathroom bug is called a pseudoscorpion (SOO-doh-SCOR-pee-uhn). But don't be fooled by its name. It's not really a scorpion; it's just a relative that looks like scorpions but lacks the curved stinger that all true scorpions have.

III-Reading Comprehension

Read the following passage carefully then answer the questions below:

A long time ago in London, people started to get very sick by 'cholera'. Although many doctors tried to find out how to prevent people from getting cholera, they were not successful. Most doctors thought that people got cholera from breathing in polluted air so they told their sick patients to open their windows and breathe in fresh air as much as possible. However, this advice did not work as more and more people still got sick.

Dr. John Snow had a different idea. He thought that cholera might have been spreading through the polluted water that people were drinking. At first, other doctors ignored Dr. Snow because they believed that cholera was spread through the air—not water. However, after he showed the results of his research to the doctors, they realized he had been right all along.
