Birds are a special group of animals, known for having feathers and wings. There are around 10,000 different kinds of birds worldwide. Ostriches are the largest birds and they also lay the largest eggs and have the fastest maximum running speed of 97 km/h. The most commonly eaten egg is a chicken's egg.

Some birds can fly high in the sky because they have light bones. Birds fly through the air by flapping their wings up and down. Hummingbirds can fly backwards. They are the only birds that can do so. These birds can also fly upside down when they want to run away from dangerous birds. Other birds, like the kiwi bird, cannot fly because its wings are too small. Another reason why some birds can't fly is because their bones are too heavy.

Birds are also known for being very smart. Some birds can sing at any time of the day. But most of them do their singing in the early morning as if they were chatting with one another. Other birds like parrots and parakeets can remember and repeat a lot of new words and repeat them clearly. They are known for being excellent pets! WC174
