Read the following passage then answer the questions below:

In the past, people used to live in simple houses. The houses didn't have all facilities that they have today, in particular current water, heating or electricity. People used to heat water to have a bath. There was no electricity, so people used to use candles or oil-lamps to light their houses. In winter, when the weather was cold, they used to warm their houses by building fires.

About family, people used to have several children. Not like families nowadays, a husband and a wife in the past used to have five or more children. Besides, families used to live all together: parents, grand-parents and children. Nowadays, families normally are formed by the parents and one or two children, and grand-parents live in their own home.

Finally, with regard to games, children used to play board games, like chess, instead of computer games. In the past, children didn't use to have as many toys as they have today.

Read the following passage then answer the question

Most of the passengers were asleep on the eight o'clock train. It was already half past nine. I was sleeping while my wife was reading a story. My little son was eating an ice-cream. Suddenly, we were all shocked to hear a loud cry from a young lady. She screamed "Help! Help! He's going to kill me. He has a gun". Many people ran towards her. We asked her where the murderer was. She looked around for a few moments, then at us and finally said "What a terrible dream!"

We comforted her saying that she was safe. A young man got her a cold drink. When she felt better we returned to our seats. An old man was sitting beside her. He kept talking to her all through the last hour of the journey. When we got off the station, I said to the man "It was kind of you to keep talking with her to help her to be quiet ".he said, "Oh, no, I only wanted to prevent her from sleeping and having another dream." It was really a good idea.
